

The High-O-Lea Hi Wrecker

Published by a Lunatic Staff For Your Enjoyment on This Glorious April Fool's Day

School in Turmoil; Wily Students Hide Reason

It was a dark, dreary day for some of the teachers at Hialeah High. It just seemed to them as though everything was going all wrong. The whole school seemed to be in a turmoil and no one could find one single reason for this. Why, even the head of this great institution of learning had been called in on the matter.

Students, reluctant to reveal the source of the trouble, walked around with sly grins on wily faces, giggling quietly about the way the mystery had developed.

It had finally been decided to call a meeting, and to try to get at the source of the trouble. The teachers all gathered in the room solemnly, to begin the conference.

They were all there. Mrs. Skipper, with a determined look on her face, demanded to know where the televisions had all disappeared to. Mr. Barringer pleaded hysterically with Mr. Pease to find all the frogs which had been taken from the lab.

Miss Jordan had come in practically crying about the fact that someone had just come in and taken her cheerleaders away, right under her nose! And last, but CERTAINLY not least, Mr. Kasper almost tore the door down as he stormed into the meeting room. They could guess by the look on his face that his barbells were missing!

After many minutes of confused discussion, the meeting was somehow called to order. The teachers talked back and forth for what seemed like hours. But amid the confused rumbles, and occasional piercing voice of an excited female teacher, no logical conclusion could be reached.

Meanwhile, around in the halls, the students who had the sly looks on their faces, now dissolved into laughter as they watched the confusion in the meeting room. "Do you think they have forgotten what today is?" "No," said another. "They couldn't have forgotten. Everyone knows that April first is April Fool's Day!"

Here's Today's Horror-Scope

Here is your Horror-scope for this April Fool's Day. It is conditionally unguaranteed to do absolutely nothing.

Pisces (February 20 to March 20)— You will get a telegram saying your Great Aunt Fritz died, willing you her Great Dane. Don't be fooled. She isn't dead. (She just couldn't afford the meat bill).

Aries (March 21 to April 19)— Don't go and drown your sorrows just because someone told you you're all wet.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— You are going to be asked to write a term paper today. (Ask everybody in your class their topics, and then STEAL one).

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)— Don't feel badly if you forget what the current events report was about. The man didn't know what he was talking about, either!

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21)— You will be able to see the stars today. (Your steady just found out you aren't so steady!)

Leo (July 2 to August 21)— Be more careful with that electric saw in shop. Remember, you STILL have four fingers.)

Virgo (August 22 to September 22)— Go on, live dangerously. So what if you don't have a license for your tricycle. But better take that muffler off!

Libra (September 23 to October 22)— Keep in mind that you broke your bifocals. (Better ask someone before you go into those Phys. Ed. locker rooms).

Scorpio (October 23, to November 21)— Do you have a gullible personality? Do you feel lower than a worm? Then, stay away from Mr. Barringer!

Sagittarius (November 22 to December 21)— You'll pass that biology test if you'll remember one important thing: the cheat sheet!

Capricorn (December 22 to January 20)— You must remember: teachers with bruises like peashooters only when they're on the 'shooting' end.

Aquarius (January 21 to February 19)— If you were born in this month, HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Betty Blue-Eyes To Return to Andaluggukee

Pretty, dull Betty Blue-Eyes really lives up to her name. She's a Betty if there ever was one. And the prettiest brown eyes you ever saw. (Now, don't go asking questions already).

Betty was born in Andaluggukee. That's an Indian name. The Indian's real name was Joe Smith, but Betty says you can't attract tourists with a town called Joe Smith.

She made her first entrance into this town in 1923. (Now what did I say about those questions?) Now, I realized that 1923 would make her a LITTLE old to be going to school, but Betty says that even though high I.Q.s ran in her family, she never caught one. So she's still around attending school.

Miss Blue-Eyes says that her favorite hobby is making safety pins unsafe. She claims that it's the most fascinating way to pass the time. She tells us of the best way she knows to get even with her enemies: she sends them a telegram saying, "Disregard last message." (Try and figure it out sometime).

Betty has great plans for the future. As soon as she graduates from school, she would like to have a factory in her home town. (If the town is still STANDING when she graduates, and don't ask us to spell the name of the town again!).

This factory is owned by a man named Joe Smith. It's called the Joe Smith Factory. It makes Indian head-dresses which say "made in the Andaluggukee Factory. (This Joe Smith is no smart Injun).

Betty has a great ambition to design a new Indian head-dress which can be worn on the feet. She designed a strikingly different pair of shoes made of bird feathers. Many people have commented on them as the shoes flew by. (She forgot to take the bird out of the feathers).

When asked what she thought of Hialeah, Betty replied in a steady monotone, "How in the world can I form an opinion about a school I've only been in thirteen years?"

This Week's Paper Dog

THIS WEEK'S PAPER DOG has graciously consented to allow the Wrecker to print her lovely photo. Four feet and one tail, and just bubbling with a sparkling vitality, she has entered successfully into many of Hialeah's activities. She is secret president of Key Club, and is the ghost writer for the English teachers at exam time. (Oh, yes, she will accept a bribe or two).

April Fool, Sir!

The air in the lab was tense. Everywhere, one met the grim face of a person, filled with lines of worry. One by one they turned as the door opened. A hushed silence filled the room.

The teacher looked from one to the other. He took in the frowns, evasive glances, guilty down-turned faces. He saw the row of students lined up, backs against a piece of thousand dollar equipment.

"No," he thought. "No," he shouted. "I demand an explanation." One brave student stepped up and said, "Yes sir, in a thousand tiny pieces. That thousand dollar piece of equipment."

The professor placed a stricken hand over his heart, and just as he had decided to faint, the bright cheery faces shouted, "April Fool!"

Here's Warning: Don't Read This

If you're planning to get anything from this story, you just might as well stop reading it right now. There really isn't a thing in it and you might as well not go on.

Well, honestly!! Still here reading? Some people just will not listen to good advice. There's no news here. There's not any jokes, or even a little poem. There's just absolutely nothing to this article.

For Pete's sake! You mean you're still reading? My, aren't we the contradictory ones, though. I suppose if I had asked you to read it, you wouldn't have read it at all!

Well, this is the end. Still reading? Aren't you ashamed? I told you there was nothing to this

Here's a Quiz

Dating's a Tricky Business!

Are you really up to date on dating? Perhaps there are some rules that April Fool's Day can bring you up on. Here are just a few of the main and most important points put in the form of a little quiz:

Read over the questions, answer yes or no to each, and see if you are up-to-date on dating.

- When inviting a girl to go to the show with you you should:
 - Tell her you're going to see it and she will too if she knows what's good for her.
 - Threaten to call her house every five seconds all night if she doesn't go.
 - Tie her up and kidnap her.
- When accepting an invitation to go out you would:
 - Tell him where you'd REALLY like to go!
 - Admit you wouldn't go out with him except that your steady date has the measles.
 - Tell him all the things you could be doing, instead of going out with him.

- When you stop at a place to eat you should:
 - Squirt him with the ketchup bottle because he bought you a hamburger.
 - Don't order until you find the caviar.
 - Insist you didn't slip the steak into your purse.
- When refusing an invitation you should:
 - Tell him to jump in the lake.
 - Stick your tongue out at him.
 - Hit him with an umbrella and say that ends the matter.

If you couldn't answer yes to any of these questions, then you don't know how to live!

Frazier's Luncheonette
And Sundries
 948 E. 25th Street, Hialeah
 Phone TU 8-9140

Mary's Cleaners & Laundry
 —ALWAYS A SPECIAL—
 Any 5 Short Items $2.00
 Open 7:15 to 6:30
 4192 E. 4th Ave. Hialeah, Fla.

TU 7-7952
 41st St. and 4th Ave.
PRESCRIPTION PHARMACY

It Pays to Advertise In the Hialeah Record

CALLAHAN'S
BOOT and SHOE Repairing
 691 PALM AVE.
 THOS. (Tommy) GILBERT Prop.

SEARS SUPER MARKET
 WESTERN MEATS . . . FANCY GROCERIES
 FRESH PRODUCE . . . FROZEN FOOD
 FOR YOUR SHOPPING CONVENIENCE

WE NEVER CLOSE
 OPEN 24 HOURS
 7 DAYS A WEEK

PHONE TU 7-4714

3930 East 4th Avenue Hialeah, Florida

PALM CLEANERS
 427 PALM AVENUE
 TU 8-1414 TU 8-1414
 "QUALITY AND SERVICE FIRST"

ARTISTS MATERIALS
 at
PAINT AND COLOR CENTER
 MU 1-1577
 4237 E. 4th Ave. Hialeah, Florida