BEVERLY CALVERT and ALFRED CAVALIER find the height and hat size for senior Judy McMillan's cap and gown.

That Time of Year Has Come, Tape Measures & Rulers Fly

Senior, don't get excited when your teachers come after you with a yard stick. They are only trying to measure you for your gowns. Don't worry when they come over and slip a tape measure over your head. They're not going to strangle you. They just want your head measurements for your cap.

The caps and gowns are white. This is a tradition at Hialeah graduations. Girls will wear white heels with their gowns.

The caps and gowns have been paid for and the Seniors are excitedly awaiting their arrival. The price is high, but in relation to this important day it seems small.

Seniors are allowed to keep their tassels as a reminder of the wonderful day, June 5, 1959.

Soon graduation will be here and the seniors will be gone. The gowns will be turned in, and the diplomas handed out; another class will go out in the big world on their own.

Stein's First

The Freedom is Our Heritage contest sponsored by the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce ended March 15. From the seniors competing at Hialeah High, Joyce Stein won, with her essay. Second place was captured by Jerry Wilkes who did an oration. Bonnie Brainbridge took third with a simulated T.V. skit.

Joyce will be placed against the winners of the other high schools in this area to again vie for the top positions. The top three from this contest will appear on television and the winner will be picked on April 9. The award at the end of the long road is a one-year scholarship to the University of Miami plus $500.

Never Alone

By DONNA JEDLICKA

As the depths of darkness filled the night, A mood of tenseness turned to fright.

The streets ahead were now empty and deserted, As the lonely child approached unalerted.

Closer she came, with each step soft and slow, Unaware of the closeness of her mysterious foe.

For there in the darkness, much to her surprise, Was a large burly figure, soon to arise.

But then as the fatal moment grew near, A stranger object did appear.

An angel descended from the heavenly air, And this was God's answer to a small child's prayer.

Refrain from calculating on the quantity of juvenile poultry prior to the completion of the entire process of incubation.

Placements to Open Some Eyes

Well, the long awaited results of the Senior Placement tests are back and there is not a single female in the top ten. The highest ranking on the test was given to John Olivero. The highest ranking girl was Sandy Weigand who placed thirteenth.

Here are the top twenty students according to the placement test rankings. These are not necessarily the top twenty students in the class, however, because grades must also be averaged in along with other factors besides the placement tests.

These seniors, who did such an outstanding job, are named as the top 20: 1. John Olivero, 2. Michael Willis, 3. Thomas Mullany, 4. Robert Gray, 5. Bill Sutton and Edward Sizemore, 7. Mike Powell and Lance Fyfe, 9. Leonard Teel, 10. Bob Tafel, 11. William Long, 12. Dan Harbolt, 13. Sandy Weigand and Howard Kernodle, 15. Richard Grace, 16. Sara Parise, 17. Mike Little, 18. George Ricker, 19. Alfred Cavalier, 20. Donna Hermansader and James Feldman.

The highest possible score on the test was 495, John Olivero missed this by two points with a 493.

'59ers Look Ahead To the Different Aspects of Life

Janice Spence and John Jacob became engaged last August 2 and have set their wedding date for January 30, 1960. They plan to make their home in Florida.

Helen Zemaitaitis is going to enter Lindsey Hopkins to further her education in the business field. After her completion of this course, she and Dick Peters plan to marry.

Mike Karpchuck is planning on furthering his education in the fields of Drama and Commercial Art. Mike will attend Florida State University.

Linda LaTourrette will enter nurses training at Jackson Memorial for three years. After getting her R.N. she would like to specialize in surgical nursing.

Jim Richardson plans to enter a branch of the Armed Services. During his enlistment, he would like to specialize in guided missiles and then possibly make the service his career.

John Olivero, top man on the Senior Placement totem pole, will attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He will major in nuclear physics or chemistry and minor in economics.

You Could Win!

The Miami Herald will present the 1959 Silver Knight Awards to participants in this county to pay tribute to outstanding seniors in the high schools.

The Awards given are trophies and cash prizes to winners in each of the ten classifications. The three honorable mention winners in each classification are given plaques and cash. Medals and certificates are given to each student nominated by a school.

The awards are presented in the following fields: General Scholarship, Science, Mathematics, Social Science, Music, Literature and Journalism, Speech and Drama, Art, Sportsmanship, and Citizenship.

The competition is open to any high school student in Dade County. A student may be nominated in only one category. The selection of candidates is entirely at the discretion of the high school principal and his staff.

The deadline for schools to submit entries to the Miami Herald is Monday, April 8.

Things Happen Backstage, Too

"Believe it or not, more 'action' goes on during rehearsals than during the performance itself", chided student director, Laura Likins.

"That's the understatement of the year," exclaimed Mr. White. "Here's an example."

"Act II, scene I, Jack McDougal, alias Jay Burke, is supposed to deliver a 'motherly' kiss from home to model Daisy Durdle. He double-crosses her and really gives her a passionate smooch.

"According to the script, indignant Daisy is supposed to give him a mild shove and say, 'Why Mac, that's not the way a mother should kiss!'"

"Here comes the catch. The first time we rehearsed this scene, the unexpected smack so completely flabbergasted Charlotte Harney that she hauled off and gave Jay a push that sent him flying head-over-heels, taking the props with him and turning a complete somersault before landing on his head backstage.

"As you can see rehearsals are coming along just fine," added director Donna Larsen, with a grin. "Lo and Behold!" will be presented April 2 and 3; curtain time, 8:00 p.m. A five-piece combo, better known as the Vanguards, are scheduled for intermission.

"Tickets are going fast," claims senior class president Bob Taffel. "We expect a big turn-out for the comedy. Keep up the good work, Seniors!"

Seniors Express Their Opinions

The question of having senior privileges enforced this year, has been disputed several times. As to additional privileges, some seniors expressed their opinions this way: Question—CAN YOU ADD TO THE LIST OF SENIOR PRIVILEGES?

Kathy McGraw, 12-7—"I think that SENIORS should be allowed to sit down in the front during assemblies so that they can see better."

Jack Murphy, 12-4—"What privileges?"

Jo Anne Bujold, 12-9—"Before you can add new privileges to the list, you must enforce the old ones."

Paul Gableman, 12-7—"There should be a room where SENIORS can get together to talk and mess around."

Joe Godfrey, 12-1—"I can't see any sense in enforcing the SENIOR privileges because the underclassmen don't respect them."

Judy Hitchner, 12-4—"The SENIORS should have a bigger parking lot."

Ralph Knowles, 12-10: "There should be a SENIOR line in the cafeteria."

Donna Larsen, 12-4—"The SENIORS should have their own entrance."

Bob Ankrom, 12-12—"The SENIORS should have a senior walkway."

Joyce Wynn, 12-5—"There should be a SENIOR lounge."

John Jacob, 12-10—"How about seeing some of them."

Senior Class Needs More Support

Attendance at the Senior Class meetings is very low. More Seniors should take time out of their busy schedules and attend the meetings.

The only activity that is set up for the Seniors that is positive is Graduation Day, June 5. Other dates have been suggested but none have been decided upon as final permanent dates. Saturday, May 16, is the day that has been suggested for our Prom this year. The Outing Day date suggested is Thursday, May 28. May 31 seems to be a good day for Baccalaureate Services.

The fourth of June has been suggested for the Senior Banquet. Where should the banquet be held is the big problem. One suggestion is the Everglades Hotel. This suggestion is being investigated now and more information will be available at a later date.

The gold Senior class pins should be coming in soon.

More Seniors are asked to come to the meetings, so definite dates can be settled soon and this Senior year planned so that it will be one to be remembered as a wonderful year.
