

T-Breds Hold First Pepster

Off into a new school year the Hialeah Thorobreds trot with much the same spirit and vivaciousness of the previous teams. The gym was packed with shouting students, many of whom were brand new, in the first pep rally of the year.

The cheerleaders on their first appearance this season led the crowd in some of the most popular cheers. A new musical cheer was introduced by the band which went to the tune of the ever-popular "Witch Doctor".

Head football coach, Mr. Hal Lanom, assured the new as well as old rooters of the fine year ahead and pointed with pride that the H. H. S. football team would strive, as they have in the past, to bring honors to the school.

New Cheer Squad Pops Out of Oven

Sugar and spice and everything nice—but be it a cup of personality or three tablespoons of cooperation, it takes more ingredients than just the "frosting" to make a Hialeah High Cheerleader.

The general belief, especially among the male population of the school, is that to be a cheerleader all that is required is an attractive appearance, a nice personality, and some acrobatic ability. Of course, these things are important to a cheerleader, but that's not all it takes. Just ask one! "There's more to it than meets the eye," declares Thorobred Cheerleader Annette Beaubien. "I'll say!" adds pretty blonde Pat Kotch, "but we love every minute of it!"

Hours of practice and Modern Dance calisthenics keep the girls pretty busy. At the same time, homework and grades are of vital importance and cooperation and dependability are essential.

During school a cheerleader is not "off-duty" for a minute. Above all, school spirit stands out in everything she does. Promoting school spirit and pride doesn't begin and end at a sports event or Pep Rally. It's a job that's never done. She's kept constantly on her toes. Her posture, poise, and genuine friendliness set the pace as an example of "Miss Hialeah High".

These are basic ingredients: Two parts genuine friendliness, three parts cooperation. Add, scholastic ability and a pinch or two of poise. Bake in school spirit. Yield: One Hialeah High Thorobred Cheerleader.

Leadership Classes Plot Future

The Physical Education Department is growing in popularity with their much demanded Senior Girls' Leadership Class. Over 80 girls have applied for this class. Miss Allejane Swain and Miss Quinn Kelly will divide the group into two classes both to meet sixth period.

The class differs from the regular physical education in that the girls will be away from the school three out of the five days and will be active in bowling, tennis, golf, swimming, working out on the apparatus, trampoline and will square dance. After they have had some experience in it, they will start to construct their own dances.

The members of this class will have a special uniform, blue shorts and white blouses instead of the conventional white gym suit.

Some advantages of this class will be to improve the skills in the games the girls will be playing in college and in their life away from school. They will form their own bowling league and have an award dinner at the end for all league bowlers. To get into this special class you have to have been recommended by your physical education teacher of previous years.

Over 100 Out For Volleyball

"Play your positions," yells Miss Quinn Kelley, to the girls trying out for volleyball.

The meeting for new members for G.A.A. was September 11, Carolyn Pritchard, President, stated that they are arranging it differently this year. She said that you are not a member unless you have earned 150 points by the second week of December. Then you are initiated and become a full-fledged member.

Over 100 girls are participating in intramural volleyball played after school. A few drastic changes have been made to their rules. The regulation girls' rules now resemble those followed by the boys. The regulation team is composed of six players, each player hitting the ball only one time, with no set-up for herself.

Miss Alliene Swain and Miss Quinn Kelly, sponsors of G.A.A., arranged the girls in different teams. Miss Katherine King is in charge of girls who want to officiate for the games.

G. A. A. Begins Plans

G.A.A. sets its forces moving toward an active year. They plan to have a cheering section for all the sports events. All members and friends sit in a special section and use much of their spirit to encourage our team.

In the future G.A.A. plans to have a friendship week. During this week the student body will elect a Mr. and Miss Friendship. At the end of the week the pair will be crowned at a dance in their honor.

Seven Majorettes Chosen to Strut At School Affair

Have you seen the new majorettes for this year? Along with sunburns, sore muscles, and peeling noses, they are snappy and alert in twirling and marching.

The majorettes were chosen for their ability in the following order: Joyce Grassman, Janice Edkins, Kathy Headlee, and Karen Harrell, captain. The following were not chosen in order: Susie Fresh, Judy Tuck, Linda Trout, and Shirley Wells, substitute.

Beverly Calvert is the solo twirler again this year, and in charge of the squad. The girls, 26 of them, went through a baton and flag twirling routine, which exhibited their strutting, showmanship, gracefulness, and rudimentary ability. The seven-girl squad was chosen by Beverly Calvert, the former Miss Majorette of Florida and Mr. Logan Turrentine, band director.

Everyone Can Have School Spirit By Being Proud of Hialeah High

Red and blue are again the prominent colors as a new school year rolls around.

The vo-doo dolls sold by Anchor are just one of the signs of a simmering fire that needs only a touch to start its blazing spirit once again.

As the first football game rolls around and passes, this spirit will grow with the victories and strengthen with defeat.

As yet the G.A.A. starts is activities and the sports days once more come onto the scene, many will display their spirit by trying out for these teams and will represent the school on this special day. The others, ones who didn't make the team or didn't go out will show their spirit in a way of pride and respect.

The cheerleader demonstrates her spirit in a much more obvious way. They are proud of their team and want the world to know it, so they offer their services to lead the other spirited T-breds in organized yells.

Your spirit may be like the little light under the barrel. Bring it out and let it shine.

GYM TEAM ACTIVATED

Jodie Clark (709) says that the Girls' Gymnastic Team is forming this week with a new sponsor, Mrs. Peggy Reese. These girls will take free exercise, work on the balance beam, do tumbling and perhaps do some work on the trampoline during their Monday and Friday meetings after school in the gym.

Mr. Robert Delaney sponsored the team last year. Any girls interested in joining should contact Jodie Clark or Cookie Maklary (408).

New Keglers Invade Hialeah Bowling Lanes

Comments regarding bowling scores were coming fast and furious from Miss Alliene Swain's Leadership Class during the week of September 15. Such remarks as "I bowled 409!" and "Man, what a game, 300 in the fifth frame," and "I give up," were among the favorites. Of course, a 409 game is impossible, but nothing is improbable when the leadership class is learning to compute bowling scores on imaginary games.

The amateur mathematicians gave the scoring system a rough time for several days but finally conquered it and with pencil poised in hand, will descend upon the Hialeah Bowling Lanes confident that scoring "is a cinch!"

The "Trouble Button Technique" was also taught in the leadership class. Any time when the pins don't refill properly, or something goes wrong, besides your game, you are to press the button marked "Trouble". Don't keep pressing the helpful invention, one time is sufficient. Then sit back and wait. If, after four or five minutes, nothing happens, press the button again. It would be interesting to note how many sore thumbs there will be after a day of bowling.
