

Confab Day Has Mixed Feelings

Mixed feelings of relief and despair accompanied the students as they took Friday, October 24, off to exchange places with their parents for the first Parent-Teacher Conference Day.

The relief was for having the day off, as the teachers of Hialeah High held conferences with the parents about the students about their grades for the first six weeks.

The despair was that of the students who hadn't done so well for that period, for their parents had requested an audience with the teachers in the low subjects.

Appointments were made for half-hour periods through the day. Many of the parents volunteered to come but in many cases those who didn't, and the teachers felt that it was necessary, were drafted.

Each teacher was required to have ten conferences, and although all of these were not for low grades, some were for the purpose of meeting the teacher.

TV Extras Planned

Report Cards Shock and Surprise Students

COMPARING REPORT CARDS are Connie Reynolds, Beverly Jernigan and Julie Bullara. Three guesses as to who got the worst.

Our old friend and foe is back at Hialeah High. Of course this means the all-American report card.

Students will begin to get anxious and worried again as each six weeks draws to a close. But this year, the students had various changes to look forward to as they more than likely noticed while looking over their brand new report cards.

If there were any changes to be made, the teacher in the particular class made the correction.

The students no longer have to look at their teachers' names. Instead they look at what is called an instructor's number.

The grades run as follows: Scholarship and Conduct, A-B-C-D-F and also effort 1-2-3.

The report cards this year are thin slips of paper and the students receive a new one every six weeks.

Record Staff Attends FSPA Convention

In charge of the registering for the Florida Scholastic Press Association held at the McAllister Hotel in downtown Miami are members of the Hialeah High Record and Hi-Ways staff.

The convention, previously held in other parts of the state, will meet in Miami, and schools in charge include Hialeah, Coral Gables, Miami, and Jackson. Hialeah will take over the registration.

The main part of the convention, which will include classes on many different phases of putting out yearbooks and school newspapers, will be held on November 6, 7, including the Banquet at 7:00 p.m.

Contests will be held on writing of news, editorials, photography, and classes will be on things such as the page make-up.

Students who will attend this convention come from many different parts of the state, and the Dade schools will play host to them.

Attending from Hialeah High will be Joe Godfrey and Brenda Wooton, editors. Also Andy Sullivan, Sandy Gechtman, George Richter, and Kathy Varner will represent the Hi-Ways.

Connie Reynolds, Pat Curtis, Susan Charles, David Ryan, Donnie Dewhurst, and Julie Bullard will be the Record representatives.

Five Chorus Select Officers

Each year it is customary to elect leaders for the various organizations. Again the five periods of chorus have selected their leaders. The officers and periods are as follows:

First period: Sandy Kraczyk, President; Donna Larsen, Vice-President; Nelda Nounior, Treasurer; Sandy Gechtman, Secretary; Joyce Peters and Wayne Duncan, Librarians in Chorus III M.

Second period: Mary Grey, President; Beverly Drummond, Vice President; Torri Guido and Marilyn Morris, Secretaries; Eva Hart, Treasurer; Ann Modiferri, Librarian in Chorus II M.

Third period: Don Griffith, President; Jim Smith, Vice-President; Sandi Weigand, Secretary; Eileen Brener, Treasurer; Bill Braughn and Doyle Peterson, Librarians for Chorus III E.

Fifth period: Becky Laws, President; Torrie Raimo, Vice-President; Donna Barkheimer, Secretary; Carolyn Lupo, V. Secretary; Sharron Duff, Treasurer; Bea Schleicher and Ella Bates, Librarians in Chorus I M.

Six period: Sally Morris, President; Joan Fiola, Vice-President; Wilene Porter, Secretary; Mary Rhea, Treasurer; Linda Frazier and Sally Morris, Librarians in Chorus III G (M).

Hallowed Halls Get 'New Look'

By WANDA CAPELETTI

I imagine that everyone at H.H. S. has seen the men in the little white uniforms and caps. They are the painters in case you think I'm talking about "sanitarium workers." The building that holds all of the Thoroughbreds from 8:45-3:15 has a new coat, a coat of paint, that is.

One of these ingenious Thoroughbreds suggested that Hialeah should be painted red and blue striped. If that isn't being loyal, I can't think of any other phase of loyalty. Another H.H.S. student wanted a red background with blue polka-dots scattered here and there.

All kidding aside, we, the pupils here at the "Thoroughbred building", appreciate the new look. Every year Hialeah has improved, not only scholastically and athletically, but with buiding improvements as well.

Changes Made With This Year's Juniors

After receiving their proofs of the Junior pictures, students have begun to return these to the Tolley Myron studios to wait for the results in the '59 Hi-ways.

A new outfit was chosen for the girls this year and their pictures will show shining faces atop black sweaters and white pearls. The boys wore a dark coat and tie.

The students were requested to bring the proofs to the studio and while they did so, placed orders for extra pictures.

Some returned to have pictures retaken on October 15 if some difficulty had caused the pictures to turn out badly.

To get his picture in the annual a Junior must pay fifty cents and he may order others for himself from the studio. Finishes of attractive oils, shiny black and white and warm browns were made available to those who wanted them and with each order the purchaser received a large eight by ten picture and frame free of charge.
