Helen Cavalier Selected Sweetheart Calendar Girl

Record's Staff To Publish Directory

Want to know what that red-head's phone number is? Wonder no longer. The Record will undertake quite a job in putting together and editing the school directory.

The directory will contain the name, address, and phone number of every student in the school. It is felt that it will be a great asset to the school.

A previous attempt by the Key Club was made to put out a school directory, but failed because of lack of cooperation.

The Record will do the constructing and editing while the Key Club will handle the sales. Be sure and get your copy as soon as they come out in January.

The price will be only twenty-five cents. Don't miss out on this opportunity of the year! That red-head might want your phone number, too!

Previews Of Progress Assembly Theme

"Previews of Progress" was the theme carried out in tenth grade assembly during seventh period Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Several of the experiments and demonstrations presented by General Motors left the audience amazed.

An example of the experiments conducted by Mr. Martin was one in which he combined a few chemicals in an ordinary coke bottle, and after shaking the contents of the bottle, removed the cork and out popped a mass of synthetic rubber.

The students were delighted with the demonstrations of Hi-Fidelity sound. Through the aid of two transmitters and tape recording, they heard a horse walk across the stage, a train whiz by, a wreck occur on a highway, and a plane zoom overhead. All seemed very realistic.

The assembly came to a close with Mr. Martin and his assistant demonstrating jet propulsion.

Drama Class Plays

On Friday evening, December 2, Mrs. Angeline Skipper's Dramatics classes put on two one-act plays, "Special Guest" and "Three On a Bench."

"Special Guest" was about a dead boy who returns to his home to try to prevent his mother from murdering the man who killed him. The cast were:

Robert Page—dead boy
Faye Ellen Taylor—his mother,
Ray Charles—his father
Joe McAllister—detective
Lillian O'Dell—his girl
"Three On a Bench" was the second play. It was a typical teenage romance. Its cast were:
Tom Banks—the boy
Elaine Collins—the girl
Roberta Calvert—an old lady
John Burlage—a policeman.

Two Teachers Join Staff

Hialeah High School has received two new teachers recently, Mrs. Margaret L. Robinson, who has taken Miss Sally Granger's place; and Mrs. Rose B. Morrera, who is teaching crafts.

Hialeah High? "I love it," replied Mrs. Morrera, new art teacher at Hialeah. And "I have found students very polite and thoughtful and I feel that I am welcome here." "I also think the students show interest in their work and have a desire to work harmoniously."

Mrs. Margaret L. Robinson, newly acquired basic education teacher here at Hialeah High answered, "I think it's very nice. I think the students are fortunate in having such a fine school. Students have been very nice to me and I appreciate that very much."

"We have a fine faculty, too. I have read the school paper, the 'Hialeah High Record' and I think it is excellent."

Mrs. Robinson came from Morristown High School, Morristown, New Jersey.

Miss Charlotte Tells "Santa" of Christmas Dreams

Charlotte Zeletes, an eleventh grader at Hialeah High, lined up with the other wide-eyed boys and girls to whisper her Christmas wish in the ear of Santa himself.

On November 20 she went directly to Richard's Department store to find the jolly saint on the second floor. She stood in a long line with great patience, to finally get a chance to sit on Santa's lap.

Now with a broad grin on her face she told Santa the things that were in her heart. Her wish was a secret, and Santa assured her that he would help her keep it that way.

After what seemed to be a long conference, Charlotte came out of her huddle with the white-haired gentleman promising that she would be a very, very good girl at least until Christmas.

When you see that happy look on Charlotte's face, remember that she and Santa are looking forward to the fulfillment of that wish.

About two months ago the Key Club of Hialeah High School was presented with the idea of sponsoring a "Sweetheart Calendar" for the coming year. Two members of the club were appointed to be directors of the calendar movement. James Harvey and Herbert Frazier (the directors) asked each of the twelve leading organizations of the school to nominate one girl to be a candidate in the election of a cover girl for their calendar.

On November 23 the twelve girls were presented to the 9th, 10th and 11th grades during their "Pep Rally." (Because the 7th and 8th grades rally was a failure, the girls were not presented to them.)

On November 28, the entire school voted for the girl that they felt should be on the cover of the calendar. That evening after school the votes were tabulated by the directors and the 1956 Sweetheart Calendar Cover Girl was known. James Harvey is quoted as saying, "All the girls who ran were equally qualified but only one girl could win and I feel the student body made an excellent choice."

That girl is the cute little 16 year old junior Helen Cavalier, representing the Wheel Club. Helen adds another honor to the long list she already has.

On Nov. 30 Helen and her court traveled to the Miami Springs Villas where their pictures were taken by R. B. Fordyce, one of Miami's leading photographers. Helen's picture will appear on one of the pages of the calendar as well as on the cover. Each of the girls will represent one month in the year and her picture will be placed on that page of the calendar.

The student body may purchase their 1956 Sweetheart Calendars from any member of the HHS Key Club for the price of one dollar.

Following are the names of the girls and the clubs they represented:

Modern Music Masters, Sylvia Buck; Chorus, Irene Rawson; Key Club, Beverly Larson; Honoria, Roberta Calvert; Anchor Club, Lynn Linkenheimer; Wheel Club, Helen Cavalier; Indian Club Club, Judy Pope; Dramatics, Elaine Collins; Y-Teens, Marcia Newton; Majorettes, Betty Harrington; H-Club, Gail Shaughnessy; Cotillion Club, Martha Tillman.

Christmas To Be Theme For Chorus

Advanced Mixed Chorus will give a Christmas show on Dec. 13 in the Cafeteria. Featured will be two numbers, "The Christmas Song" and "Manhattan Towers." The last number will be accompanied by a dance line of these students from the chorus: Loretta Rompot, Patty Lay, Gerry Boulanger, and Maxine Gillard. Roberta Calvert will direct the line.

Tickets are on sale in the choral room, 125, at the price of 40 cents for students and 60 cents for adults.

Do Cliques Control Our Clubs?

When John Smith of such and such a club here in Hialeah High, raises his hand in favor of a motion that is entertained by the club his neighbor quickly backs him up by punching his so-called friends. This causes a chain reaction of rising hands in favor of what Johnny wants—you some times wonder if Johnny isn't something of a miniature dictator himself with his own little dummies dancing for him.

In analyzing this subject you find that Johnny isn't actually working for his interest completely. He gives 10 percent of it to and for the good of the school. The other ninety goes for Johnny's personal gain and accomplishment. Of course, don't forget Johnny is your friend. You can't say anything about him. He gave you a free ticket to a Club Dance, or gave you high recognition among his friends, that is when you are around, but try to remember Johnny thinks of Johnny, not Joe or Bill, but Johnny for Johnny.

This sort of a thing is a minority in Hialeah High's Clubs, but it could become a problem and a vicious one at that. My suggestion in watching for a problem like cliques in clubs or anywhere in schools is to think only of the interest of your fellow student, not meaning that you can't consider your own welfare, but just be a student who can't be swayed by friendship, but only by proof and evidence of the good of something.

Play the lead of your feeling of that which is right always when participating in club activities and make your own decisions by following the dictates of your mind and heart which will exclude any possibility of any one person or group establishing a clique.

Keep The Council Together

Student Council is going to split. Unless you, as students, oppose this predominant movement within the Council.

First, let us examine the case. During the second meeting of the Council in November, the idea of "council-splitting" was first brought to the general attention of the Council. It was discussed and "council-splitting" was defined as "having a separate Council for both the Junior High and Senior High." The proposers of this movement were sure that they stood on solid ground and had judicious reasons for their movement. However, after being asked their reasons for such a movement, only a few feeble attempts for justifying such an inauspicious movement were made. This portrayed spurious reasoning.

To the equitable eyes of the President, the Council had no right or authority to decide on such a monumental situation. Accordingly, Baker appointed a representative from each grade section to discuss the issue and by homeroom voting, find the actual popular opinion. They were to give a report to the Council on their findings.

In our opinion, there is no sensible reason why the Council should be divided. If the Council were divided, there would have to be separate elections and constitutions for both bodies, despite the most predominant fact that there will be no junior high, in but a few years to come.

We fear that for the most part, since this movement is being sponsored by the Juniors, that it is a case of snobbery and indifference to the lower grades. It must be remembered that those who are now in the low grades will shortly be in the higher grades and then they will run the Council. Consequently, the Juniors should play the part of "instructors" and the lower grades as "apprentices" in the fine art of school government.

What the Council really needs is some modern-day Patrick Henry who would by sheer verbal force and clear thinking, unite the Council into a glorious "oneness." All students and consequently the Council should be working for the same common purposes—to equip the students of today for the tasks of tomorrow. This can be accomplished in a "United-we-stand-divided-we-fall" spirit.

Do You Have What It Takes?

Do you have what it takes? School spirit, I mean. I've read many articles on school spirit but none seem to have had much effect. Since Hialeah is a new school, it's important that each and every one of us has that certain spirit. I know what school spirit. The question is—Do you?

The person who attends all the football games decked out like a red and blue Christmas tree doesn't necessarily have "spirit." He'll holler loud for the home team and walk over the school seal the next day. People with school spirit don't slouch and stammer when the Alma Mater is being played.

The saying, "Either you have it or you don't" just won't go. School spirit is something you acquire. Being loyal to your school and understanding its constitution will help.

Someday when you are coming to school, take a good look at the building and grounds. The school handily looks like a prison, as some students call it. When entering the building, stop and read the words and think what they stand for.

Most of all, learn to relax and enjoy school. Think of your teacher as a friend. Don't be afraid to join school clubs because you feel your services aren't needed. Read your school paper and be well informed on school activities.

These things combined with a little quiet thought will build a firmer basis for your school spirit.

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year

From the Horse's Mouth

By BONNIE CLARK

Starkel, starkel little twink, Who the heck you are I think I'm not under the alcolfluence of ickahual as sofe people may pink, But the longer I drunk here the stander I get.

Remember when Gail Shaughnessy used to say: "Well well you never can tell You might get to heaven and you might not. (Whew)"

WISE CRACK

Roses are red, the stems are green, My face is funny, but yours is a scream.

OOOPS, A SLIP IS SHOWING

In Mrs. Lugo's sixth period class Ariene Browder was giving her daily talk (in Spanish?) about her dog.

Trying to say her dog had puppies and that the puppies were sisters and brothers, of course the class became quite confused, thinking her sisters and brothers were part mongrel. To try to cover up for what she was saying she said, "O.K., O.K., let's start from scratch." Better luck next time, Ariene.

THESE HURT

"Why do they put fences around graveyards?"

"I don't know."

"Because people are just dying to get in."

If a plane crashed into the side of a mountain where would they bury the survivors?

UNPLEASANT SPLIT

In England, two hours after he escaped from jail, Dennis Anson rang the bell at the front gate, asked the warden to let him back in, explained, "I'm tired and cold. Besides, I split my pants."

What Christmas Means To Me

By FRAN EPSTEIN

C is for Christ for whom this holiday is really celebrated. It is Christ's birthday.

H is for the happiness it brings to the younger folks and also the whole world.

R is for the reindeer that pull Santa's sleigh.

I is for the invitation you get for a wonderful surprising, laughable, and exciting time.

S is for Santa Claus or St. Nicholas whose jolly legend began in northern Europe and still is living today in the hearts of all.

T is for the toys which seem to give the children an extra smile and, of course, the tree which is a part of the spirit of Christmas.

M is for three things: music, the flowing notes of the Christmas carols; merriment, for young and old; and mass, which is held to honor the birth of Christ.

A is for the air which smells of evergreen, turkey, and mistletoe.

S is for the stocking which is hung by the fireplace for Santa to fill.

Christmas Morn

A star shines high
Up in the sky
To tell all far and near
That there's no need to fear
Christ the Lord was born
Early Christmas morn
His blessed mother looked down
On him, King without a crown
He died on Good Friday
He died our sins to pay
For he was born
On Christmas day.

HARE RACE

Arrested on a stolen car charge following a wild police chase during which five shots were fired, Peter Rabbitt 3rd, blamed his heavy drinking and long police record on his name. "Every time you guys ask my name and I say 'Peter Rabbitt,' you lock me up for being a wise guy."

MIGHTY MOUSE

William Young was fined $10 on an intoxication charge after he mistook the sign on the police station for the name of a bar, walked in, slapped on his hand on the counter, piped to the desk sergeant, "Gimme a shot."

THE DEEP SLEEP

A Baltimorean was arrested for drunkenness after he went to sleep on a garbage heap, was covered with layers of crab shells and mechanical scooper, dropped into a garbage truck, carted to the city dump where, at long last, he woke up.

Always remember Thanksgiving means good living.

Dear Santa Claus:

Some of the students of Hialeah High want various things to make their Christmas more merry. The Record is publishing this list to make it more convenient for you.

F. Jerry Coleman—another first initial besides "F."

Kay Anderson—a new joke.

David Rayfield—a new picture.

Virginia Coleman—the right boy.

Charlie Chastain—fewer accidents.

Marlene Petratus—a certain football player.

Ed Barber—a wave.

Helen Cavalier—another twin.

Thomas Hudson—another ad.

Wayne Molesworth—a belt, leather preferred.

Bonnie Clark—fewer freckles.

Marcia Newton—a bigger smile.

Eugene Cooke—another Toni.

David Dunn—more knowledge.

Bill VanDyke—another bop step.

James Dorminey—another nickname.

Don Goodman—a permanent, Prom, please.

Mightier Than The Sword

By F. JERRY COLEMAN

Above the mandates of the tyrant, Beyond the rule of kings and priests,

Stands like a flaming sword commandment—

The power of the Pen.

"Twas this Pen who gave us freedom,

'Tis this Pen who lets the people know.

"Twas this pen who wrote the book of Christendom,

'Tis this Pen who will the despot overthrow.

Swaying, inspiring, informing, and perplexing—

But never in the course of writing, Should the Pen be parted from the Truth.

During the year ending June 30, 1955, almost 150,000 persons saw displays of Florida State Museum, a division of the University of Florida.

Rudolph Gives Santa A Scare

By MARLENE PETRATUS and VIRGINIA COLEMAN

One dark gloomy night a great commotion was going on in the Claus' household. For Rudolph let off a SNEE—ZE.

Right away Santa put Rudolph to bed with hot water bottle, electric blankets, and cough syrup. (He didn't like the cough syrup.)

Immediately the other reindeer started to cough and sputter.

The whole house was shaking, for poor Santa was running back and forth, he was so worried. Christmas Eve was only two days away and the reindeer had colds.

How would he drive the sled? Would he use his crazy, mixed-up jet, borrow Ross Bloodworth's car, use Jerry Askowitz's scooter, or Mr. Glen Fardig's bicycle. How would he solve this mystery?

He had to investigate the situation. So he looked up Ross and asked: "Are you using your car on December 24?"

Ross with a startled look replied, "I'm sorry sir, but I have a date with my group tonight."

Santa turned away very unhappy and decided to look up Mr. Fardig. Mr. Fardig felt very sorry for Santa Claus, but he couldn't let him use his bike, for Santa was a little overweight.

His last hope—a brown scooter, belonging to Jerry Askowitz. Santa asked Jerry the same question, and Jerry answered, "Well, Santa, it's like this. That scooter supplies my transportation to and from school. If anything happened to it, well—I would have to go to C-O-R—AL Gab—les."

Santa turned away very slowly. How was he to solve this problem?

Suddenly he got an idea. He would visit Mr. Einstein and ask him if he had a solution.

Mr. Einstein didn't have a solution, but he suggested that Santa talk with "F. Jerry Coleman." This is the answer Jerry gave Santa: "Judging from Rudolph's red nose one might come to the conclusion that Rudolph is a chronic alcoholic. This condition stemmed from a disturbed childhood which resulted in an extreme mal-adjusted youth. This condition throughout his years became progressively worse and he tried to drown out his fear with alcohol. From his consumption of intoxicants he became highly susceptible to colds. There being no cure, he should be allowed to continue his task of navigating the sled."

So Santa ran home with this information. He had a good enough cure for Rudolph. He would pull the sleigh on Christmas eve, and the fresh air would do him and the other reindeer good.

The first glass-bottom boat ever used at Silver Springs is on display at the Florida State Museum, a division of the University of Florida.

BASKETBALL

The Hialeah basketball team opens its season tomorrow night here at the Hialeah Gym against St. Patrick's High Varsity five. The Thorobreds had a bit of trouble last year but they have had more time to practice this year and should better their last year's record of 5-15. Last year the team had about two weeks to get ready for their first game. This year they had over a month's practice. After the St. Pat's game the Thorobreds meet Central Catholic on Dec. 16, Seacrest on Dec. 23, West Palm Beach on Jan. 4, Archbishop Curley on Jan. 6, and Sts. Peter and Paul on Jan. 7.

ASKOWITZ HIGHEST SCORER
JERRY ASKOWITZ finished the 1955 season as the County's leading prep scorer with 96 points, tying last year's leading scorers, Larry Fontz, of Miami High, and Olin Greene, of Miami Edison. Jerry scored 15 touchdowns for the Thorobred team and also added 6 extra points. Ed Gray placed ninth in the city with 36 points. Charles Adams had 12 points. Running right behind Askowitz was Lenny Levy, fullback from Miami Beach, which the Hialeah team faced early in the season, with 71 points. Mike Harrison from Coral Gables was third with 68 and Bob Hill of Miami High had 65. Askowitz has led the city all season with nobody really challenging him from the beginning of October till the season ended.

Along this same line the Miami Herald announced their all-city prep All-Star team. On this team were some of the players that played on teams that faced the Thorobreds this past season. For instance, Jon Mirolovich and Fran Curci of Archbishop Curley and Vic Miranda, captain of the North Miami Pioneers. Ed Gray and Jerry Askowitz were honorably mentioned but did not make the team. Perhaps some people wonder why. Maybe the Herald thinks that the teams these boys have played are not highly rated teams or perhaps it is felt that since all boys here at Hialeah have another year that they will be well represented next year. I feel that it is a shame that Hialeah was not represented, but perhaps it is for the best. I don't think that Hialeah should rush its growth. If it is felt that we have a team that can compete with teams such as Jackson, Edison, Gables, or Miami High we are liable to be flat on the bottom of the pile when the season ends because we will probably be overpowered by these teams. I think that Hialeah should take a gradual step towards higher things. If we do, we will surely make it.

THANKSGIVING GAME A THRILLER

On Thanksgiving night thousands of fans poured into North Miami Recreational Field to see two up and coming schools meet in what soon will be the annual Thanksgiving classic. North Miami came on to the field as a two-touchdown favorite but the mighty Hialeah Thorobreds were looking for an upset. It was almost an upset, but I am sorry to say that an almost win doesn't count when you lose by one point. The final score was 7 to 6 with the Pioneers on top. North Miami could not be proud of the win because the Thorobreds outplayed them all together.

North Miami's touchdown was scored when Vic Miranda blocked Ed Gray's try for a quick kick and fell on the ball in the end zone. Vennie Pent, who was demoted from his first string quarterback position to second string signal-caller, added the extra point which was the decisive point in the game. Hialeah's touchdown was scored on a two-yard plunge by Jerry Askowitz. Askowitz also tried for the extra-point on a plunge but he fumbled in the end zone and gave the Pioneers their one-point victory.

"Wait til' next year," was the cry heard after the ball game. The Hialeah team should play better than they did this year because nobody graduates until June of 1957. North Miami loses some of their star players by graduation. For instance, Vic Miranda — star tackle and captain, and Vennie Pent who starred in most of the Pioneers' games.

Charles Adams Right Half Back

In a few very short years the University of Miami may gain a Hialeah football player.

Charles Adams, 125-pound right halfback, said he would like to attend the University of Miami after high school.

Charles revealed that the biggest thrill he experienced was, "When Ed Gray ran back and intercepted a pass for a touchdown that beat South Dade."

He also said that the South Dade game was the hardest that he has played in.

The five-foot, five-inch athlete would like to be a physical education teacher or a coach.

"It's a good school and is getting better all the time," was Charles' reaction to Hialeah and rated football team by saying, "It's a fine team and will continue to get better."

"I'm sure we will have a winning season," was his prediction of the outcome of Hialeah's football season.

When asked about his hobbies, Charles said jokingly, "Girls." Then he added, "I like to draw."

As can be expected Charles enjoys football as his favorite sport. The 15-year-old native Miamian said he would like to play professionally but that he has no preference as to what team he played on.

His favorite color is blue and "It's Almost Tomorrow" leads his hit parade of top tunes.

Leonard Pardue Hialeah Tackle

Leonard Pardue, a junior here at Hialeah, elected Secretary of the Student Council, was interviewed last week.

He was born in Montgomery, Alabama, on June 5, 1939. He has attended Hialeah Jr. and Senior High. His hobby is sports, and this is his second year on the football team. When asked what he thinks of this school he said "I think it is the best school in the country."

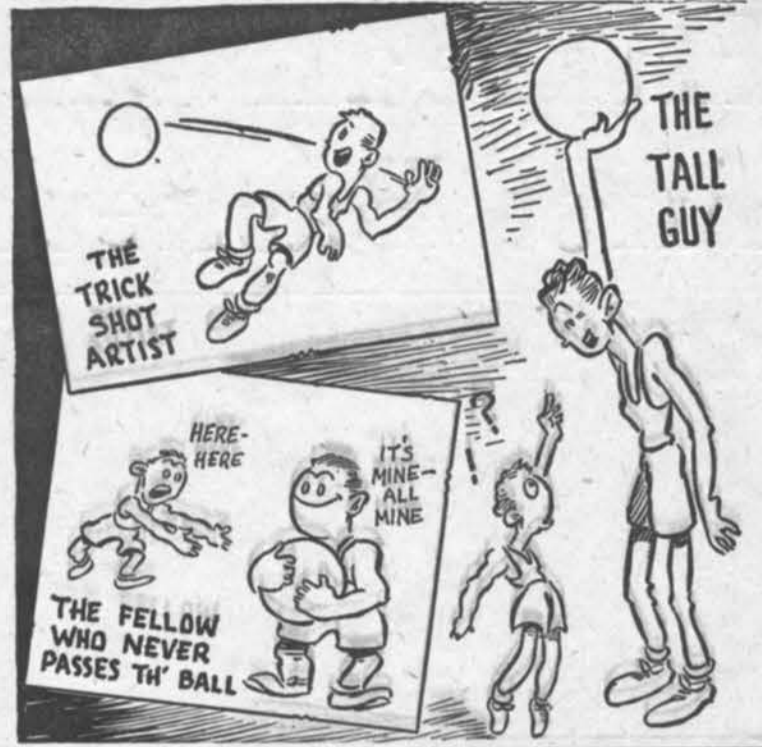

"We've got a very good football team this year, and it will be even better next year," was his reply when asked about the football team.

I would like to attend Baylor University when I graduate from high school.

I think we'll beat North Miami by one or two touchdowns.

Next year I think we will win most of our games.

I feel that the sports program here at Hialeah is well organized and well conducted.

Hialeah Cagers Attend Clinic

By JOHN STARKEY

Coach Ray Brawner's Hialeah High School cagers, who open their season December 13th, recently had an excellent chance to increase their knowledge of the game.

Last Monday evening in the school gymnasium, the Greater Miami Recreation Department held a basketball clinic for all interested high school coaches and students.

Mr. Bruce Hale began the program by giving a talk on the advantages of playing the game and the growth of the game in this state. Hale is the head basketball coach at the University of Miami.

The UM pilot stated that a pass is one of the most important things in basketball. He then had his loop team go through a series of basic fundamentals and drills.

Nick Nugent, a UM baseball and basketball player, added a humorous touch to the affair by demonstrating the wrong way to play basketball.

Another feature attraction of the clinic was the appearance of George Mikan, vice president of the Minneapolis Lakers. Mikan, who holds many basketball records, concluded the event by showing the audience a few "trick of the trade." "Mr. Basketball," as he is sometimes called, played for De Paul University, the Chicago Bears, and the Lakers before taking an executive position for the Minneapolis squad.

Hialeah Meets St. Pats In It's First Basketball Game of Season

North Miami Sneaks By Hialeah Eleven

A crowd of 6,000 fans watched North Miami sneak by Hialeah, 7 to 6, Thanksgiving night at North Miami's field.

Hialeah has played four Gold Coast Conference teams this season showing themselves in good standing. The first one was Miami Beach High who won by a score of 13 to 6. The second one was Archbishop Curley High with the score ending Curley 19, Hialeah 0. The third game was against South Dade, and Hialeah made a great showing against them by beating them 12 to 7.

The last was against North Miami (score above). The annual game for Hialeah Homecoming game for the year.

Hialeah fought very hard through the game because the spirit urged them to beat the Pioneers. They started out with a short pass from Ed Gray to Jerry Askowitz who made a run of over 50 yards to the one yard line which was called back on a penalty. Then about four plays later Ed Gray broke loose on a jaunt to within the five yard line of North Miami from Hialeah's own 40 yard line. This touchdowns, plunging from the 5, 7, and 13 yards lines.

The Hialeah Thorobreds wound up the 1955 season when they lost a heart-breaker to North Miami 7 to 6 on Thanksgiving night. This gave the Thorobreds a 7 win-3 losses record for the year.

HIALEAH 25—MOORE HAVEN 14

The fact that the Thorobreds penalized eight times for 85 yards the Hialeah defeated Moore Haven with 14 touchdowns in the first half and a fourth TD in the third

18—STS. PETER AND SAINTS 0

The Saints came into the season with no record. This accounts for the Thorobreds' beating them. Hialeah added 19 more yards, and Hialeah scored 520 yards for the Saints.

LEAH 0. In the Thorobreds were passed. Curley scored in each of the first three quarters and were held on the four-yard line in the fourth quarter. This was the Thorobreds' second loss to a Gold Coast Conference team.

HIALEAH 12—SOUTH DADE 7.

Hialeah traveled to Homestead for South Dade's Homecoming game to win one of the craziest games of the season. This game which saw 16 fumbles and five intercepted passes, was Hialeah's only victory over a Gold Coast Conference team. Ed Gray intercepted four passes which was the turning point of the game.

HIALEAH 26—VENICE-NOKOMIS 7.

HIALEAH 26—NAPLES 13. These two games showed the speed of the Hialeah backfield. Both games saw beautiful punting by Ed Gray.

HIALEAH 13—ST. PATRICK'S 7.

Hialeah did not deserve to win this game. They were outrushed and St. Patrick's had four more first downs than the Thorobreds.

NORTH MIAMI 7—HIALEAH 6.

The annual Thanksgiving night game was a real thriller this year. The Thorobreds outplayed the Pioneers all but a blocked punt was Driving, passing, and screening are some of the things that Hialeah's basketball team has been working on most for their first game of the season against Saint Patrick's High School tomorrow night at the Thorobred's own gym.

This year the Thorobreds had a little over a month to practice before their first game with St. Pat's. This is a difference because last year they had only two weeks to practice. They do not have much height which they need for backboard play. Larry Woods is the tallest man playing. Woods is about six feet, four inches tall but with little Varsity experience from last year though he has improved much since then.

Coach Brawner said that because there was little height the squad would have to out-run and out-hustle the opposition all the time. The Coach is making the team work on the fast break which may help out against St. Pat's because there are only a few teams around that work on a fast break or work on the defense part of it.

The Junior Varsity has been working hard under the direction of Coach Eskew. They are quite confident of taking the game.

The J.V. game starts at 7:15 and the Varsity game at 8:15 follows.

recovered in the end zone, the Pioneers took the lead 7 to 0. Hialeah scored but missed the extra point.
