They also can boast of an excellent rating in the sight reading of music.

Over ninety choral students boarded two chartered busses for the week-end excursion. The group stayed at the El Rancho Motel.

The contest took place in the Tampa Municipal Auditorium. The chorus had one rehearsal before competing Thursday.

Friday evening the students participated in a mass chorus made up of all the choral groups of the state.

The numbers sung by the chorus while in Tampa were: 'There Are the Times", "Omniptence", "Dark Waters", "O Rejoice Ye Christians, Loudly".

Plenty of recreation was provided. The students went to the beach and also, did some sightseeing during their free moments.

CHORUS PRAISED

Dear Mr. Pease:

While dining in the Redwood Restaurant at Tampa last Thursday evening, my attention was attracted to a group of young people seated at a table near mine.

They seemed to be having a grand time but I was most impressed by their conduct. They were real ladies and gentlemen. I inquired as to who they were. I was informed they were part of the Glee Club of Hialeah High School.

I wish to congratulate you and your staff on having such a fine group of young folks. I only wish that I might convey to their mothers and fathers what a fine impression they made.

I was so proud of them and only wished that some of our teen-age critics might have been present to see what our real teen-agers are like.

Again congratulations to you and their parents.

> Sincerely, John J. Hasley.

This will be the first Sophomore Class Dance to be given this year.

LeRoy Goes Steady!

No, don't jump. It's no ordinary cockroach. It's LeRoy. Yes, he's finally come back to all of his friends at Hialeah High. I hope you weren't worried about him. I tried not to let the news leak out, but you know how it is.

I don't know what the rumors are, but the facts I'd better set you straight on.

You see LeRoy's been in the hospital recovering from an accident. He got stepped on by the milkman about six weeks ago and we weren't too sure that he'd pull through, but he has with flying colors.

He had the whole hospital on edge all the time that he was there. But they were all sad to have him go. When the nurse tried to give him some medicine he got her so confused that she ended up taking it herself, and while they were taking the cast from his leg he accidentally kicked the doctor in the eye and broke his glasses.

Danny and I visited LeRoy practically every night. Naturally we brought him some cheese and also stacks of comic books. He simply goes crazy over the "Lone Ranger," and Dennis The Menace.

Well, that's all in the past. But at the present date you'll never guess what LeRoy is doing. A good old American custom. Umhum. He's going steady and with the cutest little girl that you ever saw. You might even know her. Her name is Molly, the Mediterranian fruit fly. They just met last week, and it's love at first sight.

LeRoy first saw her picture in the paper and told me that she was the only girl in the world for him. I finally arranged an introduction and believe me that was all I had to do. LeRoy and Molly are planning a marriage in the near future and I do believe that he said they were going back to the country that Molly is from. LeRoy seems to think that their marriage may help the world in future affairs and you all know that every thing LeRoy does is for the good of the country.

Should Women Be Treated As Men in A Democracy?

Charlene Rawlins, 11-8: "Yes, I think so. Women have been proven superior over men. In the world men always have the leading jobs, but these I feel could be handled just as well or better by a woman."

Marcia Newton, 10-7: "Yes, I believe that women should be treated equally to men in a democracy, because if they weren't it wouldn't be democratic. The constitution says that 'all men are created equal,' meaning that everyone has the same rights and freedoms as the next person.

"If women weren't allowed to vote the U. S. couldn't claim itself fair to all."

When people use the expression the 'weaker sex' pertaining to women, it practically makes no sense at all. Women are just as efficient, if not more so than men."

Martha Orr, 11-8: "No, I don't think a woman's place is in politics. Her place is in the home. I think women should do their best and support a good democracy, but they should not take as active a part as men."

Sandra Stephens, 11-8: "Yes, because women are just as capable of filling an office or job as men are."

Joan Whetstone, 11-7: "Yes, I think they should because everyone is created equal in the eyes of God. It's up to the men and women of this country to prove themselves capable of equal rights."

Bonnie Clark, 10-5: "Definitely they should. Women have been deprived many things but when they got their chance, they proved even more superior than men. The difference between man and woman has been shown right here in school. Who takes more interest and pride in their studies and school? The women, of course. They should be given a chance for they are just as equal as men."

Roberta Calvert, 11-8: "Yes, I think that women are just as qualified as men except in their physical

Jesse Dennis, 10-4: "Yes, I believe women should have the same rights in a democracy because the women usually help in building a nation, make a better and more pleasant home, and have to live under the same governmental rules."

Marianne Haller, 10-4: "I think they should because they have as much right as men in this world."

Jacie Devane, 10-4: "I think women should have the same privileges as men. Women have done numerous things for our world of today and they deserve their rights."

Charles Castelucci, 10-16: "All through the history of the world the women were something special. She was not implicated with crooked politics until the U. S. gave her the right to vote. This was when the women fell from the platform men had given her and she became as him, scratching and clawing politics. In my opinion, the women are something sacred and should not be drawn down to taking part in politics."

Welcome New Thorobreds to Hialeah

Do you, as a true Thorobred, welcome new students with a warm handshake, or do you greet them with a cold shoulder?

First impressions are lasting ones, and sometimes the impressions given by the students here are ones of complete indifference.

True Thorobreds would roll out the traditional red carpet, by being as helpful and friendly as possible.

But those with biased minds and narrow prejudices do not. They do not act as real pupils of Hialeah High should act, but, instead, they act as though it is only their privilege to have the warm feeling of belonging to a group.

If it were not for some school-spirited students and some newcomers who do not mind introducing themselves, there would be, and probably are, small groups of dazed and hurt pupils, stumbling around

Chemists Direly Needed

No free religion. No free press. No free speech. Everyone puppets. All ruled by a mutation? a Communist? a power hungry dictator? It could well be any one of the three, if we do not realize our responsibility to defend our country in the laboratory and in our colleges and universities.

In the last five years, the number of American chemists and scientists graduating from college has greatly diminished. In 1950, 50,000 chemists were graduated. In 1954 only 20,000 chemists were graduated.

In Russia the whole student population is being trained in science. They (Russia) are turning out three times more scientists and chemists that we are.

Unless more students take the proper science and mathematics courses and enter the science field, we might all be ruled by a dictator or a mutation or a Communist as a result of a struggle or war lost because of a lack of people in technical science fields. The future of the United States depends upon your decision to enter the field of

Proper Dress Is Always Necessary

Although school is almost finished for this year there are still a few girls who come to school with their hair in pin curls, and some boys come without belts or have their shirts unbuttoned.

Although there are only a few who do this, these few can actually ruin the reputation for the whole student body very easily.

Next year our school will be evaluated and even this year we have been having visitors who have been doing a small amount of evaluation, so everyone should come to school looking neat.

Boys may think it is nice looking to wear their pants below their waist line and without a belt, but it certainly doesn't give a good impression of H.H.S. to the public.

So from now on think of how you look, and the way that you dress, (both boys and girls), and you will be doing a lot to make H.H.S. a school everyone can and will be proud of.

Career Day Proves Successful

Very little juvenile behavior was shown and to the most, students em to put on their best behavior on Career Day, April 3.

The important guests who appeared as speakers definitely seemed to be impressed with student cooperation and behavior and went away with a good impression of Hialeah.

Another thing was the students' conduct in the cafeteria in feeding all the 9th, 10th and 11th graders during a forty-five minute lunch period. The students went through the cafeteria in a very orderly fashion. Mr. Kaspar commented that not one of the floral decorations on the lunch table were touched or mishandled.

This is the sort of thing students should continue to strive for. We have made, or had made for us, a few bad reputations which need not have been made.

Remember students, it is our school and we are the only people who can make it or break it by the reputation which it is given from

Let's continue as we have been doing and make Hialeah High the most outstanding school in Dade County.

How We Can Support School Publicity

Will a blanket fee answer the $64 question: How can we support our school publication?

With the HIALEAH RECORD financially embarrassed and the Handbook running in the red, the proposal has been officially made that next year an overall fee of $3 per person be charged to cover this and other fees collected by separate classes in the senior high school,

This sort of a fee has already been in practice in the junior high, but this only covered expendable materials of the classes. The new idea is to include the towel fee, the newspaper subscription, and the Handbook as well as all separate class fees. Class fees furnish to every student class use of pocket edition classics in English, protractors and compasses in math, current magazines such as Reader's Digest, Time, News Week, etc., in social studies, project material as paper and colors for murals, posters and the like, dittoed material, supplemental library books, records, film strips.

This will not include, however, such things as clothes made in homemaking, furniture constructed in industrial arts, workbooks used in classes or padlocks. These things that become the property of the students must be bought separately by the students.

We ask the student body. "Is this the answer to our problem?" We hope you will get behind it and make it work. It will mean an up-to-date, newsy paper for everyone, a useful little student handbook for all. Every student will be informed, and receive the publicity for which there is so much demand.

From the Horse's Mouth

By BONNIE CLARK

When summer makes its appearance so do many new hair styles. Well, they aren't really new but are to the girls. When, where and why pony tails were invented I'll never know, but one thing I am sure is they are very popular. They come in all sides, shapes, and colors. Take for instance Connie Barnes' pony-tail. Her raving black hair flowing down her back is a real asset to Connie's personality. Connie without her pony tail would be like a biology teacher without a test. (Carry me back to the horse's

No color is segregated and may hang around anywhere. All kidding aside, just horsing around.

Woe is me, exams are near

They always come at the end of the year Studying is nothing but awful pain And over taxation on my little brain.

(what brain?)

Gary Chamberlain once related a hilarious tale not too long ago. It seems Gary was accused of something he didn't do (which is very strange for Gary). Sitting in class one day, Gary began to roll his pet tooth round when the teacher ordered him to spit it out (she thought it was gum). He persisted he had no gum but to no avail. He nonchalantly trotted up to the waste basket, dropped his tooth in it, and sat down again. It didn't take the teacher long to spot the tooth lying along in the bottom of the waste basket. Oh, those embarrassing moments.

From the dark corners of Hialeah High comes a blessed sigh of relief. The dead line for biology projects is over and once again biology students are at peace again. That is, for students that handed in their projects. Heaven help those who didn't!

As we know, many senior high girls are trying out their skills of cheerleading for next year. Afternoon they shout "Gimme an H", and all night cry 'more liniment."

DRAG FOR DEATH?

By TISH

All is quiet on the dark street. The time is 12:05 a.m. The street is deserted except for two lone cars that are crouched at the stop light.

The drivers of the two cars eye each other in a hostile manner. Then, one remarks to the other, "Do you actually call that pig a car? Man, where did you dig up a crate like that overgrown kiddle car? If you want to see a real machine, just take a look at this unit I'm roosting in. It could beat that pig of yours with the brake on. How about it? Wanna drag?'

The other driver glares at him for a second, then nods. There is a flash of green as the light changes, and a mighty roar as the two cars take off fender to

A few seconds later the still of the night is broken by the squeal of brakes, followed by a loud crash and the sound of broken glass. Then, once again, the night is still and quiet.

COME QUICKLY, TROOPS By F. JERRY COLEMAN

I know a field wherein a million rest.

"Tis the war between the ghoul-like knight And gallant host does rage. 'Tis there the worms

'Tis there the brave are doomed 'till death to fight. And as the Colonies' war against the Monarch's men was fought,

So should this tide-like battle persist.

Yet of cause or ground the war is never wrought, And 'oft the knight bids even pale lilacs desist. And alas, how fatal when the ghoulish knight does win: His warring wheels roll round and round and crush Each law of man. To him, there is no sin, Save letting the tide to mount and o'er him rush. Come quickly, troops, to save the mind of men; Else the ghoul shall snatch another to his hell-like den.

Everything from chaps to spurs were seen Monday, April 30, when Western Day took place. Most everyone wore something in the style, however there were a few party poopers who failed to westernize.

Eugene Vaught and Barbara Hedrick canght many ears (also eyes) when they wore real spurs that jingled when they walked.

Ray Martinez got his wires crossed when he wore a big Latin American hat and a Latin American shirt which had about forty different patterns and contained about 100 different colors.

Still another boy dressed like a country boy upon wearing a beatup straw hat, oversize clold-hoppers, and pants about 6 inches too short.

At the end of school students unhitched their horses and galloped for home grounds.

Well Attended

The Hialeah High Honoria Club school cafeteria. Chinese dresses in every color were viewed from far and near. Hanging gaily about the Chinese lanterns.

held many surprises for its attenders. The Honoria girls who served as hostesses throughout the evening Beverly Martin. These girls had the Honeys.

As the announcement of each Honey was clearly given, the surprise look on the boys' faces was easily spotted. The Honeys chosen at the Kabuki were: Bill Willingham, Leonard Pardue, Andy Lapicola, Mike Malone, and James Killough.

Each boy was given an Honoria pin which he may keep. This pin makes him an official member of the Hialeah Honoria Club.

Small Chinese umbrellas were given to everyone as a souvenir.

Coffey, who was captain and guard on the 1955 Volunteer team and also played in the North-South place Coach Ted Neura's position of handling the guards and tackles James Dixon was the winning on the Thorobreds' football team.

Principal Everett Pease said he would recommend Coffey as soon as he marks his completed application form.

He is five feet, nine inches tall, weighs 185 pounds, and hails from Shelbyville, Tennessee.

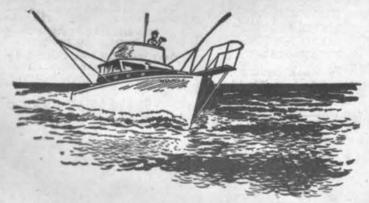

Coffey was offered a scholarship to serve as a student assistant coach under Coach Bowden Wyatt and he could continue his work on his Masters' degree, but he will report here in the middle of August to begin work.
